

After graduating at the Agricultural University in Wageningen (Netherlands), Adriaan joined a biotechnology company to work in their Scientific Information department, before moving to Elsevier in Amsterdam. For the past 29 years, he has held various publishing positions in diverse disciplines in the life and biomedical sciences. Most recently, Adriaan has been the Publishing Director for the Elsevier GmbH journals business based in Munich and Berlin. Since April 2016, Adriaan now heads the Physics & Astronomy team publishing 88 journals, including two broad discipline titles: SoftwareX and Scientific African.

Short biography